ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019, but excluded 2008 from death rate calculations because data for that year was incomplete. Death rates are not provided for jails that could not provide Reuters with complete data. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON

Arkansas

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Statewide data	Page 2

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

Notes: ADP for 2018 is based on data from the Arkansas Criminal Detention Facilities Review Committee, which does annual inspections of all the state's jails; ADP for 2008 is estimated based on averages from preceding and subsequent years because the jail was unable to provide population data for 2008.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON
California

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

NOTES

In 2011, a California law known as “realignment” shifted the incarceration of “non-serious, non-violent, non-sex” convicts from state prisons to county jails. As a result, jail inmates in California may have longer average stays than jail inmates in other states. Sheriffs often complain the change puts substantial staffing and budget pressures on jails without adequate funding.

*Reuters gathered data from the 10 largest jails in each state, as well as any other jail with an average inmate population of 750 or more.

Notes: In the case of one Santa Clara inmate who died after being taken to the hospital in 2008, the sheriff's office was unable to identify the specific county jail where the inmate was held before he was hospitalized. As a result, that death is not attributed to a specific jail

FOCUS ON
Colorado

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON

DC*TABLE OF CONTENTS

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON
Georgia

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON
Idaho

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

NOTES

A 2015 state law dictated that certain categories of low-level felons serve their sentences in county jails, rather than state prisons. Jail populations in many counties rose after the law's passage.

*Reuters gathered data from the 10 largest jails in each state, as well as any other jail with an average inmate population of 750 or more.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON

Kentucky

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON

Maryland

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON Michigan

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON

New Mexico

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON
Oklahoma

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON
Oregon

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. ## THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON

Washington

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. ## THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

<https://www.reuters.com/investigates/section/usa-jails/>

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.

THE DATA BEHIND JAIL DEATHS IN AMERICA

FOCUS ON

Wyoming

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Reuters filed more than 1,500 public records requests to collect data on inmate populations, inmate health care and inmate deaths from more than 500 of the nation's local jails or jail systems. They included every jail in the country with an average daily population of 750 or more inmates, as well as the 10 largest jails or jail systems in each state. The data does not include six states -- five where all detention facilities are managed by unified state corrections agencies (Connecticut, Delaware, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Vermont), and Alaska, which uses a hybrid model that also relies largely on state-run facilities.

SEE THE STORIES AND MORE DATA HERE:

Reuters compiled deaths from 2008-2019; 2008 is excluded from this analysis because of limited data. Death rates reflect only jails for which complete data was available on average daily inmate population (ADP) and deaths, but counts for total deaths include all deaths over the period. News media reports were used to identify some deaths that jails did not report to Reuters, or to augment information the jails did provide. Totals of causes of death may not always equal total deaths, because cause of death was not always available. Medical services were considered "public" if the jail maintained management control of its healthcare. Blanks indicate data was not provided. More information is available online about individual deaths from all years.
